

Carlin Letters

for baritone, viola, and snared cajon

Anthony Caulkins

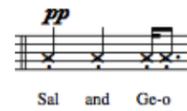

Approximate Duration: 10''

Performance Notes:

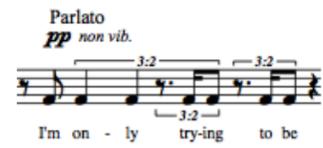

- All tremoli are un-measured

Baritone:

- The style of the piece should be very understated throughout without lots of stylization and vibrato.
- Noteheads in the shape of an “x” are to be spoken approximately on the written pitch but held to the proper durations.

- Parlato is an indication of style, referring to an understated sung chant. The pitches are absolute, however, there should not be much vibrato or stylization added.

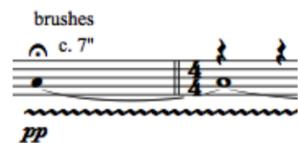

Snared Cajon:

- The player should feel free to inflect and lightly improvise on any of the written beats in the first and third movements.
- The division of high and low notes on the staff refer to striking the middle of the cajon versus the rim.
- Noteheads in the shape of an “x” are stomps of the foot on the ground.

- A wavy line under a help note indicates a constant swishing of the brush on the head of the cajon without a definite pulse.

- A diagonal line extending from a note indicates a running of the hand over the surface of the cajon, following the attack of the note.

Viola:

- When a note with tremolo is tied to a note without tremolo, the tremolo should stop at the arrival of the un-tremoloed note.

- Where notes are slurred together over long durations, feel free to change bows at any point within an extended note, except at the arrival of a new notes.

Carlin Letters: Texts

Doctor Einstein attempts to quantify the love that flows back and forth between the two great Jupiterian lovers, Sal and Geo. I've got a clue for him – His fingers will not do! Nor will those equations on the blackboard behind him. What he must do is to start to count electrons, protons, neutrons, and the many sub-atomic particles such as muons, gluons, quarks, mesons, bosons, - All the sub-atomic particles he can conceive of that ever existed in all time – and multiply that by the number of raisins in california – then you have a start.

2.

I'm only trying to be a small voice of dissent among the man-worshiping among us. I swing a heavy blade that doesn't allow for exceptions and disclaimers. That's why I even the scores for all the horrible shit visited on all of us by the dominant, western, mechanized culture of male superiority and cruelty. I don't give a fuck that some men are “sensitive” and some women are “real cunts.” The point is, this heap of shit we call civilization is male-bred and sustained by male violence. I will never apologize for my perceptions and passionate thought. And yes, I will have a good show and a nice life. I will, however apologize for misjudging your feelings on this subject.

To those who care a lot, (Jupiter Account of G & S behavior)
The crazy couple has zoomed around town since Jan. 26th coming and going like two mad geese
riding from restaurant to restaurant and studio to studio
in their special 24-cylinder, brushed-stainless-steel taxi cab.
Kissing like prom kids in the back seat with condoms and pot.
It's love. It's Love. It's Love
